LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL. COUNTY RATE REDUCED. COVENT-GARDEN ESTATE.

In reply to a question addressed to the chairman of the Improvements Committee, the interesting announcement was made at yesterday's meeting of the London County Council that the latest purchasers of the Duke of Bedford's Covent-garden estate had offered to sell it to the Council, but that the committee, acting on behalf of the Council, had declined to consider the proposal.

Mr. TAYLOR: The matter came before my committee, and they decided to purchase any part of the property. Personally I may say that I venture to hope that the owners may see their way to rearrange the property on a better and more convenient plan, doubtless to their own advantage, and certainly to that of the neighbourhood.

THE COUNTY RATE. Mr. R. C. NORMAN (chairman of the Finance Committee) said that it would be a convenience to the rating authorities to have, as early as possible, information as to the probable amount of the county rate for the second six months of the current financial year, he was authorized by his committee to state that, so far as they could at present judge, if provision were made by Parliament in the present session for the special grants in respect of heavily rated areas and the provision of meals for school children, payable under the recently issued regulations of the Board of Education, a reduction of 14d in the pound could be made in the rate for education purposes, the rate for other purposes remaining unchanged.

THE BUILDING TRADE DISPUTE. Mr. E. R. DEBENHAM presented a report of the Establishment Committee, stating that an application had been received from Messrs. Holland and Hannen and Cubitts, contractors for the new County Hall, that advances might be made to them in respect of materials delivered on the site but not fixed. Under the terms of the contract, they were not entitled to advances until the materials were fixed; but, having regard to the abnormal demands which would obtain when the present dispute in the building trade was settled, it might be thought that it would be desirable to the slightest degree or intention on the part of any member to take sides in the building dispute.

GAMES IN THE PARKS. Colonel R. J. COOPER moved the adoption of a recommendation that application should be made to Parliament next session for authority for the Council, as its discretion to provide games apparatus and charge for its use, and also to make charges for the playing of games and recreation involving expenditure in the preparation and maintenance of grounds and buildings which are not used by the general public.

DOCTORS AND INSURANCE. A CONGRESS PROTEST.

The annual meeting of the British Medical Association opened yesterday at Aberdeen. The president for the year, Sir Alexander Ogston, Emeritus Regius Professor of Surgery in the University of Aberdeen, formally assumed the duties of his office. The sectional bodies will between them bring together some 1,500 medical men. Delegates and members of the overseas branches in a score of British Colonies and Dependencies will be present, and there are twenty or more visitors and guests from foreign States.

SCHOOL SPEECH DAYS. CHIVALRY IN GIRLS.

Lieut.-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, Master of the Mercers' Company, distributed prizes yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's Girls' School, Hammer-smith. In the course of an address he remarked that he considered what was done outside the school, through its various societies and clubs, was equally as important as actual book-work. It helped to make them all-round girls and women, and to bring out their character. He alluded to the qualities combined in the term "gentleman," and wished the term "lady" came up to the same ideal. However, they could make it come up to a higher ideal than existed at present.

Dr. Alexander Hill, principal of the Hartley University College, Southampton, presided at the annual speech day of the Farnham Grammar School, a foundation which dates back to 1611. The headmaster (Rev. S. Priesley) gave a most satisfactory report of the progress of the school, from the University of London, having found much to praise in all departments, and reported that the school reached a very creditable level, while in games the present season was the best one that the school had known for many years.

SUFFRAGETTES RELEASED.

Miss Mary Richardson, the notorious Suffragette, who on March 12 this year was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for damaging the "Boleyn Venus" at the National Gallery, and has been forcibly fed in Holloway, was released yesterday afternoon on license. She was taken in a very weak state to a nursing home in the West-end, where, it is stated, she will be operated upon for appendicitis. Miss Annie Hunt, who was sentenced on July 17 for damaging a picture at the National Portrait Gallery, was released last night from Holloway under the provisions of the "Cat and Mouse" Act.

WOMEN DOCTORS' FEES.

Dr. Mary Bell, in moving a resolution declaring that the salaries paid to medical women should be the same as those paid to men, said recently an attempt had been made by a Government department to upset this principle by the appointment of one woman inspector under the Board of Control of the Mental Deficiency Act. She was thankful to say that the two selected women had both resigned, and the post was still open. (Hear, hear.) The resolution was carried unanimously.

TRIPS DOWN THE THAMES.

Holiday-makers are offered attractive trips from London to places in the Thames Estuary by the General Steam Navigation Company (Ltd.). Services are provided next week-end to Margate and Ramsgate, and on Monday to Southend. The Eagle will leave Fresh Wharf for Margate and Ramsgate direct at 8.40 a.m. on Saturday, and on Sunday morning both this vessel and the Golden Eagle are to make the trip. On Monday again both vessels sail, starting respectively at 7.30 a.m. and 8.40 a.m. from Fresh Wharf.

BIRTH OF MEDICINE.

In his presidential address, Sir Alexander Ogston spoke on the making of a Scottish Medical School. Disclaiming any intention of dealing with medical problems and questions of the day, he reviewed the history of the city with the object of interesting the members of the association in the circumstances of the establishment of what was said to be the oldest faculty of medicine in any university in Great Britain or Ireland.

ALEXANDER CROSS F.R.G.S.

MID-EUROPE FRONTIERS.

The existing condition of international tension in Europe makes the character of the frontiers between Russia, on the one hand, and Germany and Austria-Hungary, on the other, a matter of considerable interest and importance.

For the most part the boundaries between the Tsar's dominions and those of Germany and Austria-Hungary are artificial, and follow no distinct line of demarcation, such as rivers or mountain chains. Practically speaking, the great Russian plain extends everywhere into the neighbouring countries to the westward. The frontiers therefore are open throughout their entire length from Memel, on the Baltic coast, to the Rumanian frontier in the south, and offer no natural obstacle to the passage of troops that cannot be easily surmounted. Natural deficiencies have been remedied by Russia to some extent by the construction of a line of fortresses and fortified posts. The object of these works is to delay the advance of hostile armies and give time in which to complete the mobilisation and concentration of the field armies. Owing to the lack of adequate means of communication, especially railways, and the great distances which troops coming from many parts of the country have to traverse, mobilisation in Russia is a slower process than in Austria-Hungary and very greatly slower than in Germany.

MOBILISATION PERIODS.

The French general staff, which have a very keen interest in this matter, estimates that fully three weeks must elapse from the issue of the order for mobilisation before the Russian armies can assemble in the field. Germany, it is assumed, could be ready in half this time, or even less, while Austria will only require about sixteen days. It is for this reason that Russia has selected the points for the assembly of her armies at a considerable distance behind the frontier. In recent years the possibility of complications with Russia has received more attention in Germany than was formerly the case. Since her defeat in the Far East by the Japanese Russia has made strenuous exertions to reorganise and improve her military position. That work is still in progress, and it is calculated that two years are yet required to complete the plans that have been prepared. Germany is fully alive to the new situation that will be created when Russia has finished her reorganisation.

A large proportion of the £50,000,000 recently raised for military purposes in Germany has been allocated to strengthening the defences on the Russian frontier. Vast sums are to be employed in the erection of fortresses at strategic points, in the construction of strong bridgeheads, where roads and railways cross the boundary, and new lines of railway are to be built. These works have, as yet, hardly been begun, and several years must elapse before they can be completed.

RUSSIA'S FRONTIER DEFENCES.

On the other hand, ever since the reign of Alexander II., Russia has paid great attention to her western frontier. There is a line of fortresses from Kovno, in the Baltic Province, to Radom, in the south of Poland, and great efforts have been made to increase the preparedness for war of the troops stationed in this area. On the Austro-German frontier Russia has thirteen army corps against the nine corps maintained in East Germany and Galicia. This is the peace distribution, and would, of course, be greatly increased at once in the event of war. A large portion of the 835 miles of frontier between Russia and Germany consists of country almost impassable to troops. There are vast areas of wide-spreading marshes and impenetrable forests in Russian Poland, where no roads exist, so that the advance from either the east or the west must take place along well-defined lines. To the south, where Russia and Austria meet, the country is more open and movement would be easier. Fortifications on the Russian side are fewer, a very wide gap existing between Dubno and Kamienka. The only strong places in Galicia are Cracow and Przemyśl, both in the northern part of the province, so that Russia and Austria are practically on a par as regards works of defence.

DISTRIBUTION OF TROOPS.

The actual distribution of the troops in proximity to the frontiers at the present moment is as follows:

VI. Army Corps	--- Bialystok.
XV., XIX., XXIII. Army Corps	--- Warsaw.
IV. Army Corps	--- Minsk.
XIV. Army Corps	--- Lublin.
XI. Army Corps	--- Rovno.
XII. Army Corps	--- Winnitsa.

In addition there are at least three army corps having headquarters at Kiev and another at Odessa.

GERMANY.

I. Army Corps	--- Königsberg.
XVII. Army Corps	--- Danzig.
V. Army Corps	--- Posen.
VI. Army Corps	--- Breslau.
XX. Army Corps	--- Allenstein.
II. Army Corps	--- Stettin.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

I. Army Corps	--- Cracow.
X. Army Corps	--- Przemysl.
XI. Army Corps	--- Lemberg.

OPEN COUNTRY.

The accompanying map shows the line of the frontier between Russia and Germany and Austria. As already stated, the demarcation is everywhere open, save for forests and marshes. The only exceptions, the frontiers between Russia and Austria, formed by the River Zbrucz, from its junction with the Dniester, for a distance of about seventy miles north by west, until the boundary turns westward along the Anaratynsk Hills, and a similar stretch on the north-west, where the River Vistula divides Galicia from Russian Poland. Along the whole frontier the country has the general character of the great Russian plains. The land is flat and open, and the only diversions of the surface are the valleys eroded in the soft black soil by the streams and rivers. Galicia, the border province of Austria-Hungary, is the largest territorial division in the Empire. It is roughly about the size of Ireland and has a population of about seven and a quarter millions. The people are mainly Poles and Ruthenians, both belonging to the Slavonic race. The Poles, who are Catholic in religion, mostly occupy the higher lands in the foothills of the Carpathians, while the Ruthenians, who belong to the Orthodox Greek Church, dwell in the lower valleys along the border, and have strong Russian sympathies.

STRATEGIC RAILWAYS.

On the Russian side of the frontier Galicia is bordered by the Russian provinces of Poland, Volhynia, Podolia, and Bessarabia. The latter was only added to the Tsar's dominions after the Russo-Turkish war of 1877 at the expense of Rumania. Three lines of railway cross the frontier, the principal being the line from Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, to Kiev and Odessa. In all probability the Russian line of advance into Austria would be along these railways, as the ordinary roads are merely clay tracks across the steppes. An important Russian fortress is situated at Rovno, on the Lemberg-Kiev railway, about sixty miles from the frontier. Owing to her notorious slowness in mobilisation it is probable that the Russian armies would be assembled 250 miles further east at Kiev, which is the chief military station.

Between Galicia and Hungary lies the great barrier of the Carpathian Mountains. These run, roughly, south-east from near Cracow (Austrian) to the forty-fifth parallel. There they bend westward, and continue as the Transylvanian Alps to the Danube, where that river pierces the mountain barrier by the great gorge known as the Iron Gaps. This mountain chain imposes a very formidable obstacle to armies advancing towards the Hungarian plain. It is crossed by several passes, through two of which lines of railway run, but it is stated that these are strongly fortified. Galicia is connected with Rumania by railway, which runs northward through Moldavia and Bukovina. Strategic spurs are carried eastward from the Galician railways to the Russian frontier at Husiatyn, Skala, and Zaleszczyk, on the River Zbrucz. The most southerly point of railway communication between Galicia and Russia is formed by the line from Czernowitz to Balta, on the Odessa-Lemberg line, which crosses the Zbrucz a short distance above the junction of that stream with the River Pruth.

MOUNTAIN AND PLAIN.

The whole of Galicia eastward from the foothills of the Carpathians to the Russian frontier is open, and would afford an easy terrain for military operations. It is intersected almost midway by the Dniester, from Lemberg to Chotin in the south-east. The Dniester is a large river, and is navigable throughout the greater part of its course. In the extreme north of the province the frontiers of Russia, Germany, and Austria-Hungary meet at Mysłowitz, about fifty miles north-west from Cracow. The great Russian military centres such as Kiev, Kishineff, Iskaterinopol, and Odessa, are all several hundred miles from the Austrian frontier, but there is a Rumanian population in Transylvania which is disaffected with Magyar rule.

The frontier between Austria-Hungary and Serbia is formed mainly by the Rivers Danube and Drina. The former separates Serbia from Hungary; the latter forms the boundary between Serbia and the province of Bosnia, annexed to Austria in 1908, when the two countries were on the verge of war. It will probably be found, as stated in these columns on Monday, that Serbia will not offer serious opposition to the crossing of the Danube by the Austrians. All they propose to do is to leave a couple of divisions to delay the advance of the enemy and allow more time for the final preparation of the position selected for battle. The covering divisions will fall back before the Austrians to Kragejevat, where there is a very strong and defensible position.

BELLIGERENTS' BOUNDARIES.

The Austrians, according to the views of the Serbian General Staff, will cross the Danube at three points—Belgrade, Semendria, and Mitrovitz. Semendria is about thirty miles down the Danube from the capital, and Mitrovitz about twice that distance to the westward. Belgrade has already been evacuated, and the seat of government removed to Nish, in the heart of the country. In addition to the movement across the Danube, it is likely that the Austrians will attempt to invade Serbia from Bosnia. At present the Dual Monarchy has nearly 100,000 troops in Bosnia and Herzegovina. From Sarajevo, the capital of the province, a line of railway runs to Meglizia, on the Drina. From that point roads lead south-east into Novi Bazar, now Serbian territory, and eastward via Usitza, Chachak, and Krushevatza, to the railway from Belgrade to Nish.

This line of attack, if successful, would turn the Kragejevat position. But the character of the country between the Bosnian frontier and the centre of Serbia is such as to contract the front of an invading column very seriously. It is a wild tangle of mountains and forests. The so-called roads are mere tracks and almost impassable by wheeled vehicles. The distance is nearly 150 miles. Besides, the Austrian troops in Bosnia-Herzegovina may be occupied with local troubles, for the population of the two provinces is principally Serbian. It must not be forgotten also that the Serbian soldiers in two recent campaigns have proved themselves fairly good troops.

"DEEDS, NOT WORDS."

COUNT TISZA'S STATEMENT.

A stirring scene occurred in the Lower House of the Hungarian Parliament when Count Tisza, the Prime Minister, made a striking reference to the present crisis. He said that what was wanted now were deeds of arms, not words. Full of pride, he pointed to the enthusiasm of the people without distinction or nationality. Sinful frivolity had been spreading disquieting reports regarding the nationalities. The whole country was following with enthusiasm the call of its King into the struggle which was forced upon it. They would continue the fight until the honour of the nation and the peace of the future had been ensured.

On behalf of the Opposition, Count Apponyi declared that they were all convinced that the struggle had been forced on them. The nation was completely united in the conflict. He expressed confidence that the action of the Empire would meet with complete success. There was a hope that the contest would be confined to a limited area, but even were they disappointed in this hope, they would not be anxious, and would trust in their allies. An Imperial autograph was then read proposing the Hungarian Parliament, amid a scene of indescribable enthusiasm, and the House then rose, after the President had called a blessing on the King and the Fatherland.

AMERICAN COMMENT.

APPEAL TO THE KAISER.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Tuesday. The American Press, reviewing to-day's cables from Europe, denounces in no measured terms the tendency towards "war madness" and the further tendency, as judged by the surface manifestations of the French and German mobs, to "convert Europe into one gigantic madhouse." It is regarded as very fortunate for modern civilization that there are responsible statesmen who know they must disregard the wild howlings of the street and the glory would be illusory.

This is the almost universal opinion of Americans, who feel that in case of a big conflict their country would be immeasurably weakened. All sections of the Press and people here recognize that there is a great opportunity, and a far-seeing and high-minded statesman, in this connection an earnest appeal is made to the German Emperor, to "perform a mighty service to humanity."

"Where so much has been conceded by Serbia," says the World, "where all has been conceded save its own independence as a nation, Austria cannot refuse mediation without a self-accusation of deliberate seeking for her own selfish ends. She will stand arm-in-arm with the bar of civilization as a witness to the woker of widespread devastation for the gratification of unworthy ambition."

As regards mediation as the only alternative to war, it is realised here that Great Britain must lead the way, and that British influence must prove commanding over the forces of hatred and national passions and ambitions. Americans consider it as a circumstance of promise for peace that Sir Edward Grey has promised for mediation which have been represented for mediation which have been pealed successfully to Italy and France, and which will need to bring in no more than Germany besides to give practical assistance of success.

Amazing Effect of Dissolving Uric Acid

Dr. Haig, the great authority on Uric Acid Poison, says: "Uric acid dominates the functions, nutrition, and structure of the human body to an extent which has never yet been dreamed of in our philosophy." It is the great enemy of life, disturbing our comfort and racking us with acute agonising aches and pains. There has never been a time in the history of the world when men and women made uric acid in such excess as to-day. People who live and work with the brain in our big Cities, with compulsory sedentary employment, need something to help them to get rid of the excessive uric acid, otherwise the agonising aches and pains of Gout, Rheumatism or Sciatica will sooner or later be a life-long misery.

Another great physician wrote:—"I consider Kutnow's Powder the greatest solvent and eliminator of uric acid in the world. I suffered for years with Gout in its most painful form, my body being saturated with uric acid. I took Kutnow's Powder, and in three days the morning tests showed less and less uric acid, until, after four bottles, I became entirely free from the poisonous dross."

"Before-Breakfast" Plan for Health

The hygienic "before-breakfast" plan of flushing and clearing the system with an early morning health-draught of Kutnow's Powder is simply delightful in its refreshing, cleansing, and deodorising influence. It is a pleasant experience and repays the slight trouble a hundredfold. Its action is simplicity itself. It simply extracts water from the blood, opens the sluices, and then lets loose a miniature torrent of fluid into the bowels, which liquifies and clears out all the poisonous waste matter, to your comfort, relief, and permanent benefit. It first of all sets about clearing the stomach of all its sour fermentations, induces a free flow of gastric juices, sharpens the nerves of the stomach, and creates a keen appetite. Then you are quite ready for breakfast—good digestion waits on appetite.

Elimination after the Breakfast Meal

While you are quietly enjoying your breakfast, your health-draught of Kutnow's Powder is quietly and gently at work in your system, getting ready for a wholesome clearance of all internal poisonous matter. By this time it has passed through the stomach to rouse the liver, collecting in its progress all the bile acids, and discharging the lubricants into the intestines. Concurrently, it also flushes and clears the kidneys, dissolving and expelling the excessive uric acid. The internal poisons are all speedily neutralised, and by an easy peristaltic movement the whole system is cleansed and purified.

Danger of Unscrupulous Substitution

When you have tested Kutnow's Powder—free of charge—and absolutely convinced yourself of its marvellous health-giving properties, you will very naturally want to continue. You can purchase a further supply at any chemist or store, but it is necessary to warn you against the unscrupulous vendor who will suggest that you purchase some concoction of his own, or that of his firm, with a suave but fraudulent suggestion that it is "just as good" or "even better than" Kutnow's Powder.

The object of the unscrupulous vendor's suggestion is, of course, a bigger profit—if he is the master—or a commission if he is the salesman. Your interest is solely one of improving or regaining your health and strength, and it is, therefore, imperative that you insist on being supplied with what you ask for. Kutnow's Powder should be obtainable of all chemists in 2/9 bottles; or will be sent for 3/- post paid in the United Kingdom from Kutnow's London Offices. See that the Trade-Mark "Hirschen-sprung," or "Deer Leap," and the fac-simile signature, "S. Kutnow & Co., Ltd.," appear on both the wrapper and bottle label. No other remedy contains such valuable and health-giving constituents as Kutnow's Powder.

The Eradication of All SKIN ERUPTIONS

If only every man and woman knew how the bad condition of the blood is always reflected on the face in the form of pimples, blackheads, rashes, blotches, boils, or eczema, and how easy it is to remedy these unsightly eruptions with a course of Kutnow's Powder, to clear and improve the blood, they would at once apply for a free package. Send the Coupon and clear your system.

Nurse White: "I had a very nasty rash (pruritic eczema) on my face, but after taking two bottles of Kutnow's Powder, in addition to the free sample sent me, I was completely cured and have had no recurrence. Several of my patients and friends, suffering from liver and gouty eczema, have derived great benefit."

MORAL.—You will never be troubled with pimples, boils, acne, or eczema if you take Kutnow's Powder.

To Eliminate Poisons and CLEAR THE BLOOD

If you want a clear skin and a fresh, rosy, healthy-looking complexion, you must clear the blood of its poisonous matter. "The Blood is the Life"—but it is pure blood—good blood—that gives the natural rosy bloom to the cheeks. If you take a course of Kutnow's Powder you can see the complexion getting gradually clearer and clearer daily.

A. Graham-Harvey, Esq., Stilton, Southsea, wrote: "I firmly believe that Kutnow's Powder is a grand blood purifier. It is most refreshing and quickly expels uric acid, acting beneficially on the liver and kidneys."

"The Medical Recorder" says: "Kutnow's Powder possesses the power to eliminate from the body the excess of bile and acids, thereby purifying the blood and strengthening the general tone by improving the assimilative processes."

The Grand Effect on the NERVOUS SYSTEM

Dr. Haig, in a paragraph on blood toxins, says: "Clear the blood, and as the blood-pressure is reduced, the pulse-rate quickened, and the urine diluted, the mental condition alters as if by magic: exercise of mind and body then become a pleasure, and the struggle for existence a glory. To such a terrible extent are we the creatures of the brain circulation."

Dr. F. A. Lees, The Lodge, Meanwood, Leeds, wrote: "Kutnow's Powder is simply invaluable to all those who have sedentary employment. Persevered with in the early morning—before breakfast (fasting)—it surely 'keeps at bay' every disability. I have used many remedies, but must certainly award the palm to Kutnow's Powder."

MORAL.—If you suffer from Neuritis, Neuralgia, or Nervous Breakdown, invoke the assistance of Kutnow's.

That Run-Down Feeling CAUSES INSOMNIA

The men and women do not exist who can rely upon never feeling miserable at times, unless they clear the system periodically with Kutnow's Powder. No one ever feels tired who is perfectly well and when work is congenial. There is no good reason why anyone should ever feel "run-down" providing the Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are kept clear.

Major S. K. Conran, 121, Harington Road, Scheveningen, Holland, wrote: "Owing to literary cuts my life is somewhat sedentary, and after a hard day's work I used to feel fatigued and fatigued, and sleep was frequently broken and belated. I began to take Kutnow's Powder, and am pleased to state that I can now strenuously without any ill-effect and sleep follows naturally. Your Powder is, without doubt, refreshing and invigorating."

Get Rid of Poisoning CONSTIPATION

The most persistent Constipation is easily eradicated by a free course of Kutnow's Powder. Hundreds of letters have been received testifying to the remarkable effect of this refreshing remedy. The one quoted to-day emphasises its infallibility in all such cases.

Nurse Phillips, 59, West Derby St., Edge Hill, Liverpool, wrote: "Having given Kutnow's Powder a fair trial, I feel it is my duty to let you know the result. I have given it to two special cases of chronic Constipation—one patient is now quite well—the other only needs an occasional dose. Both cases are of several years' standing. I shall continue to use it. As a Nurse of gr-a experience, I think Kutnow's Powder is excellent."

MORAL.—You will keep yourself in perfect health if you conquer Constipation, and this is easy with the aid of Kutnow's Powder—Gratis.

Don't Run the Risk of APPENDICITIS

Appendicitis is a dangerous inflammatory disease of the Appendix, a small blind passage about four inches in length. The trouble arises from the presence of some foreign body—indigestible and insoluble—lying stagnant in the Appendix and setting up suppurating mischief. Anyone suffering from persistent constipation is liable to an attack. The easiest way to prevent Appendicitis is to eradicate constipation by clearing the system thoroughly.

A Famous Physician wrote: "I find Kutnow's Powder particularly valuable in cases of recurrent attacks of Appendicitis, accomplishing the two things necessary—free evacuation of the alimentary canal, and the entire cleansing and clearing of the system. It is also particularly valuable in children's cases."

MORAL.—You will never suffer from an attack if you keep the system clear.

Dissolve & Expel Your URIC ACID POISON

The evidence of a great authority on Uric Acid poison is distinctly comforting, as it proves that no one need suffer agonising ailments, providing the kidneys and bladder are flushed periodically with Kutnow's Powder, so as to ensure the expulsion of uric acid poison.

A Distinguished Doctor wrote: "I consider Kutnow's Powder the greatest uric acid solvent in the world. I suffered for two years with gout in its most painful form, my body being thoroughly charged with uric acid poison, and hardly able to move. I took Kutnow's Powder, and in three days, the morning scientific tests showed less and less uric acid, until now I am entirely free from it."

MORAL.—If you feel any twinges of Gout or Rheumatism, dissolve and expel your Uric Acid with Kutnow's Powder and you'll soon get relief.

Eradicate and Banish SICK-HEADACHE

There is no ill to which flesh is heir that produces more discomfort to the human race than headache. The action of Kutnow's Powder in relieving severe headaches and depression is delightful.

Nurse Whit, 2, Ethelbert Rd., Birchington Bay, wrote: "For years I suffered from very severe headaches, and tried almost every remedy without doing me the least good. Kutnow's Powder. I am thankful to say, has been most efficacious in relieving it. Several members of the household have tried it with the same successful results."

Rev. E. W. Jenkins, Bethel Manse, Hamsterley, Wilton-le-Wear, wrote: "If people are depressed, Kutnow's Powder will soon remove that depression by gently, but successfully, inducing the whole machinery of Nature to act pleasantly."

ROYAL OPERA. END OF THE SEASON.

With last night's performance of "Aida" yet another opera season at Covent Garden has been appointed to close. It has been a long season—some fourteen weeks in all—and by no means an uneventful one, even though one can hardly affirm that it has been marked by any "sensational" features.

BRAIN FOG SLEEPLESSNESS LOSS OF APPETITE IMMENSE GOOD, FIT AS A FIDDLE. Mr. JOHN F. LICKORISH, Westville, Clifton Road, Sutton Coldfield, writes: "I should like to testify to the immense amount of good Phosferine has done me. Having a lot of brain work and worry I very easily get run-down, and suffer from sleeplessness, in fact, for nearly eight years I scarcely knew what it was to get a night's rest, and was becoming a physical wreck, but nothing gave me relief until I tried Phosferine. After the first bottle I slept better, my nerves were stronger, and I could eat and enjoy my food. After taking a few doses of Phosferine I feel as fit as a fiddle, and I have also derived great benefit from it for Rheumatism, and it does all and more than is claimed for it. I am constantly recommending Phosferine to fellow sufferers who have also found great benefit from it, in fact, it's our family medicine chest."
